Genesis 22:17-18- The Blessing of Promises

By:First Pres Joilet

17 I will surely bless you and make your descendants as numerous as the stars in the sky and as the sand on the seashore... 18 and through your offspring all nations on earth will be blessed, because you have obeyed me."

Abraham trusts God completely; willing to obey even if it means offering up his only son Isaac as a sacrifice. But God graciously provides a sacrifice other than Isaac. And Abraham calls that place "The Lord will provide." God promises to bless Abraham with numerous descendants and to bless all the nations on earth through his offspring because Abraham trusted the Lord.

Notice that the New Testament has it's beginning verse connected to that very promise of God to Abraham. The Gospel of Matthew begins with, "This is the genealogy of Jesus the Messiah the son of David, the son of Abraham." Through Jesus, the offspring of Abraham, all the nations on earth will be blessed.

For it is through Jesus that people of every race and nation are welcomed into the family of God to be the people of God. All who believe, trust in Jesus are received into the body of Christ, the Church, no matter their race or nation.

The Gospel of Matthew ends with another wonderful promise, "And surely I am with you always, to the very end of the age." In the Advent Season we remember and celebrate that Jesus is "Immanuel, which means, God with us" (Matthew 1:23).

Celebrate the blessings and promises of God which are true and faithful in every era, through all the centuries, for all time, and even eternity. In faithfulness and love God sent us the Savior, Christ the Lord, to be with us always. Celebrate God's saving grace, love, and presence in Jesus this day and every day.
